

Western Washington
Medical Group

Nurse Practitioner Primary Care

Location: Snohomish County

Western Washington Medical Group is looking for an experienced full-time Family Nurse Practitioner for a new family practice clinic in Snohomish County that will provide full primary care including on-site lab and x-ray, with daily appointment availability as well as walk-in convenience.

If you are looking for a professional home where you can establish your "practice within a practice" and get to know and care for your own patients independently, this may be the perfect fit for you.

WWMG is a diverse, progressive and growing medical group that includes more than 20 primary, specialty, surgical and imaging care centers in one collaborative and mutually-supportive group. If you'd like flexible hours, great compensation, the freedom to build your panel and treat your patients independently, please respond. This position is open immediately.